

DEATH OF LOVABLE YOUNG WOMAN

Word was received last evening of the death of Miss Ellen Virgin at her home in Genoa. Miss Virgin has been an invalid for five years or more, suffering first from a severe attack of nervous prostration and, barely recovering from that, she was thrown from her carriage on the road between Genoa and Walleys, the accident being caused by the carelessness of a driver whose rig she met.

The injuries she received were very serious and at one time her life was despaired of, but as she grew stronger it was hoped she would recover; but complications set in and she has been gradually fading until death released her last night.

Miss Virgin was an exceptionally bright and intelligent young lady, with a clever talent over ready, and she was a general favorite with all who knew her. She will be sadly missed in the home circle where she was ever cheerful and uncomplaining and by the friends who have endeavored to make her life as comfortable and happy as possible.

She was the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Virgin at Genoa, Nevada and was aged 27 years. She was the granddaughter of Mrs. J. R. Gentry of Genoa.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning from the family home in Genoa.

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN

RENO, Sept. 28.—Before the ink was fairly dry on the check he had forged and passed on C. D. Virgilio, J. Anderson, an ex-convict, only three weeks released from the Carson penitentiary, was caught at Sparks by Capt. Alter of the local police department in one of the neatest captures ever made here, and with the cuffs shackling his hands was brought to the city prison. A companion of the accused man, Frank S. Curtis, was also taken into custody.

Just three weeks ago Anderson came to Reno after serving a four years' sentence for forgery. He was recognized as an offender by Captain Alter and kept under surveillance. As he had no visible means of livelihood he was taken before Chief of Police Keener and after an examination was given twenty-four hours in which to leave town. He left, yesterday in the evening he was again seen by Captain Alter who reminded him of the compact to keep out of town. Anderson promised to get in two minutes. The captain watched him, unseen, and Anderson went into the Depot saloon on Commercial Row. A moment afterwards he emerged and walked rapidly away. Captain Alter inquired of Virgilio if Anderson had cashed a check. Virgilio showed one signed by T. K. H. (was) and the captain knew that Anderson was up to his old tricks again. The officer immediately went to Sparks figuring that the ex-convict must have left for the railroad town. With officer Malay of Sparks he captured the alleged forger on the 9:20 car. With him was Curtis who was also placed under detention.

When caught Anderson had no money on his person and said he had spent the ten dollars on the games.

There can be no escape from conviction on the charge of passing the bad check, as Captain Alter caught him before he had a chance to manufacture any evidence, and the check is a palpable forgery. The department is to be congratulated on the speedy capture of the guilty man who in another hour or two, but for the vigilance of Captain Alter, might easily have escaped.

PHIL McGRATH RESIGNS

Phil McGrath, formerly of this city has resigned as assistant superintendent of the Sacramento division of the Southern Pacific to accept a position with a Tonopah banking house.

PLAYED TRUANT; NEARLY KILLED

RENO, Sept. 28.—Miss Irene Mack, daughter of C. E. Mack, one of the most prominent attorneys in Nevada, narrowly escaped with her life in a runaway yesterday and in the accident she was thrown from the buggy, sustaining a gash across the forehead and scalp for life. Miss Edna Coll, who was with Miss Mack at the time of the accident, was saved from impending death by Sam Cupples, trainmaster of the Southern Pacific company who watched the accident and who promptly stopped the train as it rushed down the grade.

Miss Mack and Miss Coll played truant from the university of Nevada yesterday, as it is alleged, and taking the Mack buggy, they went for a drive toward Laughlin, N.M. As they crossed the railroad track near the station a light rail car was approaching. The Mack buggy, which was being driven by Miss Mack, was struck by the car and tipped over, throwing Miss Mack and Miss Coll into the air.

Miss Coll was thrown into the air and landed on the ground, sustaining a severe injury to her head. Miss Mack was also thrown into the air and landed on the ground, sustaining a severe injury to her head. The trainmaster, Sam Cupples, saw the accident and immediately stopped the train. He then ran to the scene of the accident and found Miss Coll lying on the ground. He immediately called for a doctor and the train was stopped.

Miss Coll and Miss Mack are well known in Reno. They are prominent members of the university at Nevada, the former a senior and the latter a junior in the college.

FIRE IN IDAHO

LEWISTON, Ida., Sept. 28.—A special to the Evening Teller, states that a fire believed to be of incense origin, wiped out the whole of the business section of Oro Fino, this county, early yesterday, entailing a financial loss of $75,000, with less than $20,000 insurance. Fifteen business houses were burned in addition to the postoffice, bank, newspaper offices and two hotels and many residences.

D. A. McKinney, proprietor of the Hotel hotel, in which the fire originated, has been placed under arrest charged with arson. The population is greatly excited and there is a feeling of panic. The fire is believed to have been made against McKinney, notwithstanding that his own family escaped in their night clothes.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT REFUSES TO CHANGE FUSES

The postal department at Washington, in spite of repeated and earnest requests that the mail route between this city and Aurora and Bodie be changed, absolutely refuses to grant the request, although, as has been demonstrated to the government, a whole day's time might be saved by the change.

At present the mail is carried by the stage route and those interested in getting mail promptly wish to have it transported by the railroad, but on some other pressure can be brought to bear, the present method will be continued and mail will arrive twenty-four hours later than is necessary.

DUCKS ARE SCARCE

Hunters are finding that the ducks are very scarce this year and that there are still a good many ducks too small to fly. The ducks had in the year were destroyed by the high water. The fact that there is so much water everywhere is keeping the ducks away from civilization—farm and city.

FRYE WILL SING OFFERTORY

Edna G. Frye, who sang the first offertory at the Park theatre, will sing the "Holy City" at the Presbyterian church in service tomorrow.

TUSCARORA A LIVELY CORPSE

Anybody who labored under the delusion that Tuscarora is a "dead end" could have it dispelled by the reception accorded Governor Sparks, State Treasurer D. M. Ryan and Jas. Sweeney on their arrival here to go on the campaign. The town and mountain peaks were ablaze with bonfires and exploding giant powder while the visitors were greeted with patriotic airs by brass bands.

REPAIRING MINT SHAFT

A whim is being indulged at the Mint shaft for the purpose of repairing it where needed. The shaft was one of the most important openings for ventilating the south lateral branch of the Sutter tunnel and its connections with the various shafts on that level of the mine. It is a dangerous and the temperature of the air passing downward through it is below seventy degrees at the tunnel level—Climatic.

ZIRA PLEASES AUDIENCE

Augmented house, greeted the Harp's song, resulting in a military band of Zira, Miss. Harper in the title role, easily carried off the honors and the rest of the cast was excellent.

Tonight, owing to the difficulty of procuring a little girl to take the part of Toot, the company will use, instead, Zira as a first intended but will give Barclay Campbell's White slave instead.

The company will leave tomorrow morning for Reno where they will play a return engagement.

LOSE CAR OF ORE IN TRANSIT

A carload of rich ore shipped by the Nevada Hills company on the 7th of the present month has been lost somewhere in the shuffle and the management is now poking the railroad company vigorously in the ribs in an effort to locate it. It is reported to have been the richest car shipped from the property. Another car was billed out on the 19th and from present appearances it will reach the market ahead of the car that has been sidetracked somewhere.—Salt Lake Herald.

The Meyers Mercantile company has erected a small corrugated iron building at Minden in which to store the iron stock recently purchased of Mack Bros., until the new warehouse is completed.
